ALABAMA	Automobile and Property: No applicable statute, Administrative Code provision or case law exists. Alabama’s Dept. of Insurance orally advises this issue is generally governed by contract law to extent provided in the policy. Policy language can modify the Made-Whole Doctrine. Ex parte State Farm & Cas. Co., 764 So.2d 543 (Ala. 2000). The insured can’t claim it’s not made whole merely because of a deductible it paid.	N/A	N/A	N/A
ALASKA	Automobile: Pro-Rata. “Any person...must include first-party claimant’s deductible, if any, in subrogation demand unless first-party claimant requests that it not be included or unless deductible has been otherwise recovered by first-party claimant; no deduction for expenses may be made from any deductible recovered unless an outside attorney or other outside expert witnesses have been retained and any deduction is no more than pro-rata share of their cost less any attorney’s fees and costs recovered; any recovery of pre-judgment or post-judgment interest shall be shared pro-rata.”	Alaska Admin. Code tit. 3, § 26.080	Deductible must be included in any subro demand.	Pro-Rata
	Property: Pro-Rata. “(a) Any person transacting a business of insurance who participates in the investigation, adjustment, negotiation, or settlement of a first-party property claim shall: (3) include the first-party claimant’s deductible, if any, in a subrogation demand unless the first-party claimant requests that it not be included or unless the deductible has been otherwise recovered by the first-party claimant; no deduction for expense may be made from any deductible recovered unless an outside attorney or other outside expert witnesses have been retained and deduction may be for no more than a pro-rata share of their cost less attorney fees and costs recovered; any recovery of pre-judgment or post-judgment interest shall be shared pro-rata.”	Alaska Admin. Code tit. 3, § 26.090	Deductible must be included in any subro demand.	Pro-Rata
ARIZONA	Automobile: Pro-Rata. “Insurers shall, upon claimant’s request, include first-party claimant’s deductible, if any, in subrogation demands. Subrogation recoveries shall be shared on proportionate basis with first-party claimant, unless deductible amount has been otherwise recovered. No deduction for expenses can be made from deductible recovery unless outside attorney is retained to collect such recovery. The deduction may then be for only pro-rata share of allocated loss adjustment expense.”	Ariz. Admin. Code § R20-6-801(H)(4)	Deductible must be Included in subro demand when insured requests it.	Pro-rata share of allocated loss adjustment costs - only if outside atty is retained.

ARKANSAS	Automobile: Pro-Rata. “Insurers shall include first-party claimant’s deductible, if any, in subrogation demands. Subrogation recoveries shall be shared on proportionate basis with first-party claimant, unless deductible amount has been otherwise recovered. No deduction for expenses can be made from deductible recovery unless outside attorney is retained to collect such recovery. The deduction may then be for only pro-rata share of allocated loss adjustment expense.”	Ark. Admin. Code § 054.00.43-10(d)	Deductible must be Included in any subro demand.	Pro-rata share of allocated loss adjustment costs – only if outside atty is retained.
	Property: None.	N/A	Not Specifically Required	N/A
CALIFORNIA	Automobile and Property: Pro-Rata. “Every insurer that makes a subrogation demand shall include in every demand first-party claimant’s deductible. Every insurer shall share subrogation recoveries on proportionate basis with first-party claimant, unless first-party claimant has otherwise recovered whole deductible amount. No insurer shall deduct legal or other expenses from recovery of deductible unless insurer has retained outside attorney or collection agency to collect that recovery. The deduction may only be for pro-rata share of allocated loss adjustment expense.” Note: The plain meaning of this regulation is that an insurer seeking settlement from a tortfeasor must seek recovery of its insured’s deductible. It does not authorize an insured to recover a deductible in litigation without the insured being a party to the suit. Pacific Gas & Elec. Co. v. Superior Court , 50 Cal. Rptr.3d 199, 203 (Cal. App. 2006). The above section does not apply to disability and health insurance.	Cal. Code of Regs. tit. 10, § 2695.7(q)	Deductible must be Included in any subro demand.	Pro-rata share of allocated loss adjustment costs – only if outside atty retained.
COLORADO	Automobile and Property: No applicable statute, Administrative Code provision or case law exists. Colorado’s Department of Insurance orally advises that the standard practice is to reimburse insured for deductible on a comparative negligence basis.	N/A	Not Specifically Required	N/A
CONNECTICUT	Automobile and Property: Pro-Rata. Collision deductible included in subrogation demand. “Effective January 1, 2010. Except as prohibited by § 38a-336b of the general statutes, if an insurer chooses to exercise its right of subrogation pursuant to the terms of an automobile liability insurance policy, such insurer shall include in such subrogation demand the amount of any collision deductible paid by such insured, unless such insured requests such insurer not to include such amount. The insurer shall share subrogation recoveries with the insured on a proportionate basis.” While there is no specific statute or case law governing the duty of a subrogated insurer to reimburse the insured’s deductible, the Connecticut Supreme Court has held that an insured need not be reimbursed its deductible in order to be “made whole.” Fireman’s Fund Ins. Co. v. TD Banknorth Ins. Agency, Inc. , 2013 WL 3818112 (Conn. 2013).	Conn. Gen. Stat. Ann. § 38a-351a.	Deductible must be Included in any subro demand.	N/A

DELAWARE	Automobile: No applicable statute, Administrative Code provision or case law exist other than as to PIP subrogation. With regard to PIP subrogation, § 2118(f) provides: “An insured person may not plead and introduce into evidence in an action for damages against a tortfeasor the amount of the deductible; however, insurers shall recover any deductible for their insureds or their household members pursuant to subsection (g) of this section.”	21 Del. C. § 2118(f) Stratton v. Am. Indep. Ins. Co. , 2010 WL 3706617 (Del. 2010).	Carrier’s obligation to pursue under § 2118(g) extends to any deductible, not just exhausted deductibles. The PIP recovery deductible is limited to liability coverage that remains after insured’s bodily injury claim against tortfeasor is resolved.	Not Specified

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA	Automobile and Property: No applicable statute, Administrative Code provision or case law exists.	N/A	Not Specifically Required	N/A
	Automobile: No applicable statute, Administrative Code provision or case law specifically setting forth a duty to reimburse a deductible. Florida law does not appear to recognize an affirmative right or cause of action by an insured against its insurer to be “made whole” beyond the payment of insurance policy proceeds. Instead, it appears that Florida law allows the “Made Whole” Doctrine as a defense used by insureds to protect the insured’s direct recovery from a tortfeasor, where the insured’s own insurer makes a subrogation claim upon the insured’s recovery. Pro-rata reimbursement probably required. Auto insurer does not violate Made Whole Doctrine where it returns to its contributorily negligent insured a properly calculated prorated portion of insured’s collision deductible after recovery in subrogation action.	Schonau v. GEICO Gen. Ins. Co. , 903 So.2d 285, 287 (Fla. DCA 2005). Monte De Oca v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. , 897 So.2d 471 (Fla. DCA 2004).	Not Specifically Required	N/A

HAWAII	Automobile: No applicable statute, Administrative Code provision or case law specifically setting forth a duty to reimburse a deductible. However, with regard to UM/UIM subrogation, § 431:10C-305.5 provides: “If insured is involved in accident with uninsured motorist and insured paid deductible amount for damages incurred in that accident, and if insurer recovers any money from uninsured motorist, insurer shall reimburse insured, provided that: (1) amount recovered shall be divided equally between insured and insurer; (2) amount of insured’s reimbursement shall not exceed deductible paid; and (3) if amount of damage exceeds $2,500, insurer shall: (a) pay full amount of deductible to insured; or (b) initiate proceedings against uninsured motorist to recover damages.”	Haw. Stat. § 431:10C-305.5	Reimbursement is Required With UM/UIM Subrogation. Otherwise, Not Required.	Not Specified
IDAHO	Automobile and Property: No applicable statute, Administrative Code provision or case law exists. Idaho’s Department of Insurance orally expresses a preference that the insured be reimbursed its deductible first - no statutory support requires this.	N/A	Not Specifically Required	N/A
ILLINOIS	Automobile: Pro-Rata. “Any insurance carrier whose payment to its insured is reduced by a deductible amount under a policy providing collision coverage is subrogated to its insured’s entire collision loss claim including the deductible amount unless the deductible amount has been otherwise recovered by the insured, but if the deductible amount has been otherwise recovered by the insured it shall not be included in the subrogated loss claim and shall be excluded from the amount of loss pleaded. If the deductible amount is included in subrogated loss claim, the insurance carrier shall pay full pro-rata deductible share to its insured out of net recovery on the subrogated claim. Administrative expenses of the insurance carrier cannot be deducted from the gross recovery, and only incurred expenses of the carrier, such as attorney’s fees, collection fees and adjuster’s fees, may be deducted there from to determine the net recovery. When the insurance carrier is recovering directly from a third-party a claim by means of installments, the insured shall receive his full pro-rata deductible share as soon as such amount is collected and before any part of such recovery is applied to any other use.” Note: Administrative expenses are those incurred as a normal cost of doing business. But “incurred expenses” are “out of pocket” expenses related to a specific claim.	215 I.L.C.S. § 5/143b. Morel v. Coronet Ins. Co., 117 Ill.2d 18 (Ill. 1987).	Deductible must be included in any collision subrogation action.	Administrative expenses cannot be deducted- only incurred expenses, such as atty’s fees, collection fees and adjuster’s fees. Installment payments must be reimbursed pro-rata when paid.

INDIANA	Automobile and Property: No applicable statute, Administrative Code provision or case law exists. Indiana’s Department of Insurance orally indicates that the common practice is for insurer to reimburse insured on pro-rata basis based on percentage recovered.	N/A	Not Specifically Required	N/A

MINNESOTA	Automobile: Pro-Rata. “Subrogation recovery must be shared at least on proportionate basis with insured, unless deductible amount has been otherwise recovered by insured, except when insurer is recovering directly from uninsured third-party by means of installments, insured must receive full deductible share as soon as amount is collected and before any part of total recovery is applied to any other use. No deduction for expenses may be made from deductible recovery unless attorney is retained to collect recovery, in which case deduction may be made only for pro-rata share of cost of retaining attorney. An insured is not bound by any settlement of its insurer’s subrogation claim with respect to deductible amount, unless insured receives, as a result of subrogation settlement, the full amount of deductible. Recovery by insurer and receipt by the insured of less than the insured’s deductible amount does not affect insured’s rights to recover any unreimbursed portion of deductible from parties liable for loss.”	M.S.A. § 72A.201	Deductible must be included in subrogation demand.	No deduction for expenses from deductible recovery unless atty is retained to collect recovery, in which case deduction may be only for pro-rata share of cost of retaining atty.

NEW JERSEY	Automobile: Pro-Rata In Physical Damage Claims. (See Formula). N.J. Admin. Code 11:3-10.7 provides: (a) If an insured has received payment under his or her physical damage coverage that is subject to a deductible, the insured shall share, pro-rata, with the insurer any net recovery received by the insurer from third parties. (b) Net recovery shall be the total recovery less the insurer's allocated loss adjustment expenses attributable to such recovery. The formula for computing net recovery and the insured's share of recovery of the deductible may be stated as follows: $\text{Total Recovery} - \text{Allocated Loss Adjusting Expenses} = \text{Net Recovery}$ $(\text{Deductible} \div \text{Total Loss}) \times \text{Net Recovery} = \text{Insured's Share of Recovery}$ (c) Unless the insurer returns its insured's full deductible the insured shall attempt to effect full recovery in clear liability cases and shall not enter into any intercompany agreements that provide for the acceptance of lesser amounts on a formula basis. (d) If an insurer has paid a physical damage claim that is subject to a deductible and it elects not to pursue its subrogation claim where the probability of recovery exists, the insurer shall so notify its insured in writing within 60 calendar days after it has paid the claim, except that the notification shall be given at least 30 days prior to the running of any applicable statute of limitations or period required for notice of claim. If an insurer does not notify it's insured within the time periods prescribed above and the statute of limitations or period required for notice or claim has expired, the insurer shall forthwith remit to its insured the full amount of the insured's deductible. Automobile: PIP/Med Pay Deductible Recoveries Not Allowed. NEW YORK	Automobile: Pro-rata. In Physical Damage Claims. Specific notice requirements exist even if not pursuing subrogation. N.Y. Ins. Reg. 64, § 216.7(g) provides: “Subrogation Agreements. (1) Where insured has received payment under physical damage coverage that is subject to a deductible, insured shall share, pro-rata, with the insurer any net recovery received by insurer from third parties. Within thirty calendar days of such recovery, insurer must mail or hand-deliver to the insured its payment for the insured’s pro-rata share of the recovery. (2) Net recovery shall be the total recovery less the insurer’s allocated loss adjustment expenses attributable to such recovery. The formula for computing net recovery and the insured’s share of recovery of the deductible may be stated as follows: Total Recovery – Allocated Loss Adjusting Expenses = Net Recovery (Deductible ÷ Total Loss) X Net Recovery = Insured’s Share of Recovery Application of Formula: Assume a loss of \$500 subject to a \$100 deductible with \$50 in allocated loss adjustment expenses: (a) if there is full recovery of \$500: computation of net recovery: \$500 - \$50 = \$450; computation of insured’s share of recovery: \$100/\$500 x \$450 = \$90 (b) If there is a partial recovery of \$300: computation of net recovery: \$300 - \$50 = \$250; computation of insured’s share of recovery: \$100/\$500 x \$250 = \$50 (3) Unless the insurer returns it’s insured’s full deductible, it shall attempt to effect full recovery in clear liability cases and shall not enter into any intercompany agreements that provide for the acceptance of lesser amounts on a formula basis. (4) If an insurer has paid a physical damage claim that is subject to a deductible and it has elected to pursue its subrogation claim, the insurer shall promptly attempt to effect recovery. If a dispute arises between two or more insurers regarding the subrogation recovery, and the insurers are unable to resolve it, the insurer seeking recovery shall submit the dispute to binding arbitration or a court action shall be commenced no later than 180 calendar days following the payment of the claim to its insured. (5) If an insurer has paid a physical damage claim that is subject to a deductible and it is pursuing its subrogation claim, the insurer shall notify its insured in writing of the status of its claim 120 calendar days after the date of the claim payment to its insured. An updated status letter shall be sent every 120 calendar days thereafter until the claim is either honored or rejected. (6) If an insurer has paid a physical damage claim that is subject to a deductible and it elects not to pursue its subrogation claim where the possibility of recovery exists, the insurer shall so notify its insured in writing within 60 calendar days after it has paid the claim, except that the notification shall be given at least 30 days prior to the running of any applicable statute of limitations or period required for notice of claim. If an insurer does not notify its insured within the time periods prescribed above and the statute of limitations or period required for notice of claim has expired, the insurer shall forthwith remit to its insured the full amount of the insured’s deductible.	N.Y. TEXAS	Automobile: No Reimbursement Requirements. However, it does require “action” to recover deductible to be taken unless it gives insured notice within 90 days before SOL runs that it won’t take action. If no such action is taken, and no proper notice is given, the insurer must pay the insured the amount of the deductible. “Action to Recover Deductible. (a) Notwithstanding any other provision of this code and except as provided by Subsection (b), if an insurer is liable to an insured for a claim that is subject to a deductible payable by the insured and a third-party may be liable to the insurer or the insured for the amount of the deductible, the insurer shall: (1) take action to recover the deductible against the third-party not later than the first anniversary of the date the insured’s claim is paid; or (2) pay the amount of the deductible to the insured. (b) An insurer is not required to take action or pay the amount of the deductible as required by Subsection (a) if, not later than the earlier of the first anniversary of the date the insured’s claim is paid or the 90th day before the date the statute of limitations for a negligence action expires, the insurer: (1) notifies the insured in writing that the insurer does not intend to take further collection actions against the third-party; and (2) authorizes the insured to take further collection actions. (c) This section applies regardless of whether the third-party who may be liable for the amount of the deductible is insured or uninsured.” Section 542.202 provides that the word “action” means “taking various actions such as reasonable and diligent collection efforts, mediation, arbitration, and litigation against a responsible third-party or the third-party’s insurer.”	Tex. Ins. Code § 542.204	If “third party may be liable”, subro claim must be brought within one year of payment or must pay Insured’s deductible, unless notice given to insured that subrogation will not be pursued. Section 542.204 is only a notice provision. It does not require a subrogated carrier to pay the deductible first out of a subrogation recovery. You should first look at the applicable insurance policy to see how it deals with a deductible, if at all.	N/A

UTAH	Automobile: Pro-Rata. “Insurers shall include first-party claimant’s deductible, if any, in subrogation demands initiated by insurer. Subrogation recoveries may be shared on a proportionate basis with first-party claimant when an agreement is reached for less than full amount of loss, unless the deductible amount has been otherwise recovered. The recovery shall be applied first to reimburse first-party claimant for amount or share of deductible when full amount or share of deductible has been recovered. No deduction for expenses can be made from deductible recovery unless an outside attorney is retained to collect such recovery. The deduction may then be for only a pro-rata share of the allocated loss adjustment expense. If subrogation is initiated but discontinued, the insured shall be advised.”	Utah Admin. WASHINGTON	Automobile and Property: Reimburse deductible (less pro-rata expenses) first; then carrier’s subrogation interests. “The insurer must include the insured’s deductible, if any, in its subrogation demands. Any recoveries must be allocated first to the insured for any deductible(s) incurred in the loss, less applicable comparable fault. Deductions for expenses must not be made from the deductible recovery unless an outside attorney is retained to collect the recovery. The deduction may then be made only as a pro-rata share of the allocated loss adjustment expense. The insurer must keep its insured regularly informed of its efforts related to the progress of subrogation claims. “Regularly informed” means that the insurer must contact its insured within sixty days after the start of the subrogation process, and no less frequently than every one hundred eighty days until the insured’s interest is resolved.”	W.A.C. § 284-30-393	Deductible must be included in any subrogation demand. WISCONSIN	Automobile and Property: No applicable statute or Administrative Code provision exists. Wisconsin's Office of the Commissioner of Insurance (OCI) orally advises it relies on case law to establish if the insured is entitled to the first dollar collected. Rimes v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. , 316 N.W.2d 348 (Wis. 1982). Note: the Commissioner indicates that it would not object if the insurer reduced reimbursement by the percentage of comparative negligence of insured – assuming insurer's subrogation efforts to collect money from at-fault driver also included same reduction. The Commissioner "recommends" a written agreement with the insured regarding reimbursement of the deductible, including possible pro-rata reduction for collection costs.
